

Macquarie Residence

185 Macquarie Street

Designed by Crone Nation and completed in 2006 the Macquarie Residences is contemporary but also acknowledges the rich historical context. Stack-sliding glass doors and fine timber shutters add to the overall transparency and restrained sophistication of the building.

With Renzo Piano, Norman Foster and the Heritage Astor Apartments as neighbours and in close proximity to the State Library, Parliament House and Botanical Gardens it doesn't get more exclusive than Macquarie Residences.

Ingenious use of space has created spacious apartments finished to the highest standard with Spanish stone floors, fabric wall panelling and cut pile carpets which distinguishes 185 Macquarie Street from its competitors with their orthodox modernist interiors.
