CAPATILISE ON CURRENT MARKET CONDITIONS

SUMMARY

- The resilience of the Australian property market has been shown over the past two months.
- Buyer demand continues to grow.
- The number of bidder registrations jump this week.

There has been great resilience in the Australian property market in the last two months, despite some of the screaming headlines in the media. The fundamentals of the property market remain strong as listing levels return to normal and we are in an ultra-low interest rate environment with banks willing to lend to buyers. Since the start of the pandemic (from March 15) when restrictions were placed on all Australians, we have signed up 17,158 private treaty listings and we conducted 2,190 auctions across the country, with an average of 4.0 registered bidders per auction, that's up 1.1 bidders on the same time last year.

On Saturday alone we had 4.8 bidders registered for every auction. We also recorded a solid auction day clearance rate at 66.5 per cent. That metric is also well up on last year too. Prices also remain solid due to the fierce buyer competition. We haven't seen any major price contractions across the country.

Average Registered Bidders Per Auction

Nationally	4.8	(+2.7 year on year)
Sydney	5.3	(-1.2 year on year)
Melbourne	4.3	(+3.6 year on year)
Brisbane	7.8	(+5.4 year on year)
Adelaide	8.8	(+6.8 year on year)
Perth	6.0	(steady year on year)
Gold Coast	5.3	(steady year on year)

We know not all our sellers choose to go to auction and will list with a price. The auction method of sale is a solid leading indicator of demand and confidence which everyone can take assurance from no matter the type of method of sale undertaken. We've now moved into a more balanced market where the stock pool has become deeper for buyers to choose from. This is the natural evolution of a healthy, functioning property market where more sellers are confident to list as the economy stabilises.

Naturally we don't know what's going to happen after the federal stimulus ends in September. For now what we know is that the second wave predictions in Melbourne's northern suburbs didn't dampen the spirits of auction punters last weekend. In fact the strongest auction of the entire group last week was in a "COVID-19 hotspot" with 28 registered bidders competing in an online auction.

“Now is when marketing will play an even greater role to position your listings in front of the highest number of buyers.”

We continue to see strong buyer demand, as illustrated in our online enquiry data, the number of buyers attending our 'open for inspections', and our record number of registered bidders at auction.

The market is becoming larger, the choices for buyers are becoming more, so now is when marketing will play an even greater role to position your listing in front of the highest number of buyers. Ray White is a marketing machine, this is where we excel over others. We have taken the opportunity to detail the importance of a marketing campaign on the following pages.

SELLING IN THE CURRENT ENVIRONMENT

SUMMARY

- Australians may be making decision based on negative media reports.
- The process of selling has changed a little, yet our activities has shown that these processes are working very effectively.

Like most property owners, you'll probably have questions about what has and hasn't changed in the way in which properties are being marketed in the current environment. Is now a good time to market my property for sale? How can we continue to market and sell property in a safe manner as our communities transition back to normal conditions? And so on.

We are concerned that our clients may make decisions to stay out of the real estate market based on media reports that often paint a negative picture.

As Australasia's largest real estate group, selling one in every nine properties across Australia, we are uniquely placed to provide our clients with relevant and timely information and data to assess current market activity. As a family owned and led business with 118 years of experience, we know that we can deliver you the highest quality solutions in today's market.

We have successfully adapted our processes in order to continue to safely fulfil the needs of our customers in the current environment. The process of selling has changed a little, yet our activity over the past two months has shown that these processes are working very effectively.

WHY ARE WE SEEING STRONG SALES RESULTS NOW?

SUMMARY

- There has been a return of confidence in the property market.
- Buyer demand is up across all metrics.

Real estate markets are driven by a number of factors however the two basic fundamentals of supply (the number of total properties for sale) and demand (the number of buyers active in the marketplace) play a significant role in establishing market conditions that favour sellers or buyers. In general terms, when supply is low and demand is high, these conditions are favourable for sellers. Conversely, when supply is high and demand is low, these conditions are favourable for buyers. So what are we seeing now?

Over the past two months, supply has been low, in historical terms and we have seen consistent and strong buyer activity (demand). Put simply, there were more buyers competing over less properties, creating conditions that lean towards our sellers obtaining an advantage in achieving better results. Our clients that have come to market over this period have achieved great results because of the basics of supply and demand.

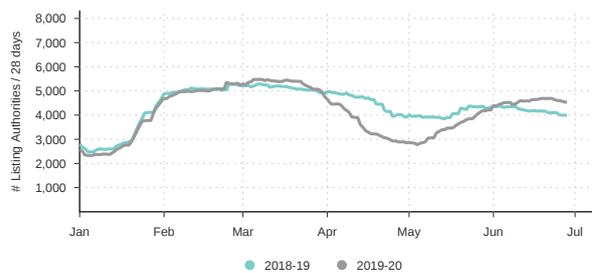

Supply

There has been a change to supply in recent weeks. We have seen an increase in new listings per Chart 1. This could be due to a number of reasons - the increased demand currently in the market that is giving sellers confidence, together with the sustained auction clearance rates across the country. However, our strong suspicion is that there has been a return of confidence in the market.

Over the past few weeks we have seen a major change in the market dynamics from a national perspective. In terms of total listings on the market at the moment, we are only marginally behind where we were last year and about six per cent less than in June 2018 (refer to Chart 2). So while there is less supply than in the past few years, this gap is shrinking and we expect it to close fully by spring.

Demand

There are a number of considerations we take in account when looking at the amount of buyers active in the market.

Buyers normally start their journey by looking online. Chart 3 shows that the number of buyer enquiries on our websites dipped about 25 per cent in April, but is now up on this time last year. In fact, we are seeing unprecedented levels of online traffic across our Ray White websites. Industry portals like Domain and REA are also reporting significant increases in buyer enquiry.

From online enquiry, the next juncture is buyer inspections. After a considerable fall in March we have seen a major increase in buyer inspections since restrictions have eased. So much in fact that the number of potential buyers inspecting property now is significantly higher than before March 2020.

The next stage is buyers bidding at property auctions. This is transparently reported through our auction data. When we look at our auctions in recent weeks, we have seen the average number of bidders per auction exceed the numbers that were achieved in what many would consider our peak selling season over the spring months.

Pre-approvals are a key leading indicator to buyer confidence knowing they have the financial capacity to buy the property. Chart 5 shows the monthly home loan pre-approvals recorded by the Loan Market Group have increased by 184 per cent compared to last year and a massive increase of 9.5 times compared to 2018.

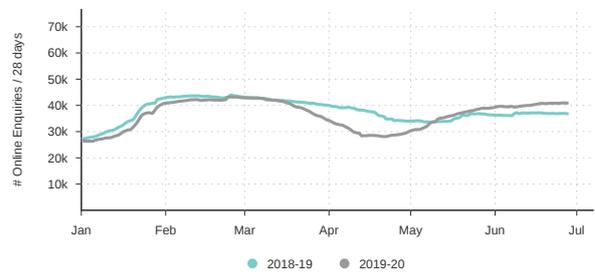

Loan Market is our loan brokerage partner and Australia's largest independent broker. Loan Market just posted a record month of settlements with more than $1 billion in loans, its biggest month ever.

So what factors are contributing to buyer confidence?

- Interest rates are at record lows. Importantly, the general consensus among economists is that they will remain at these low levels for the foreseeable future.
- Banks and lenders remain very supportive of lending for residential property.
- The low Australian dollar is attracting strong overseas buyer interest.
- Record levels of government stimulus are supporting buyer sentiment.

IF I AM CONSIDERING SELLING, WHY SHOULD I GO TO MARKET NOW?

SUMMARY

- Don't delay until Spring to sell your property.
- Avoid potential risks that may arise in the market.
- Current selling conditions are strong.

This is not a normal year, nor a normal property market cycle. While many people may want to sell in what they perceive as the traditional selling season of spring, we would urge you to consider listing your property now as it may be the best opportunity you'll have all year.

The current selling conditions are strong. The market is experiencing its usual dip in new listings, while buyer activity remains strong. By listing your property now, you would most likely achieve a sale in August or early September, which historically has no difference in median price to sales that occur later in the spring and early summer.

“Selling now takes many of the above risks out of the equation and enables you to sell with maximum certainty.”

The key reason to list it now is to remove as much risk as possible as to what might happen later in the year. There are many economists predicting property prices will decline over the next year or so.

There are two basic fundamentals that drive property prices, supply and demand. Many suggest that supply will outweigh demand in the next six to 12 months and possibly longer, creating conditions less favourable for sellers.

How have these opinions been derived? The key government stimulus packages (JobKeeper and JobSeeker to name the two most significant) are currently scheduled to end in September. Banks have offered a large number of homeowners mortgage deferment support which is also scheduled to end in September. Many economists predict that when these support measures come to an end, we will start to see larger volumes of new properties come onto the market causing a potential over supply of properties available for sale.

According to the experts, house prices are likely to fall by about 10 per cent this year, despite rising auction clearance rates, as oversupply and weak demand from cautious buyers hold back a recovery. Speaking at the AFR Inside Markets Webcast, EY Oceania chief economist Jo Masters said while the country has done well on the health front, the threat of a second wave of the coronavirus at a time when a large amount of housing supply is coming online remained a challenge for the market. "There are still risks including a second wave of coronavirus and there's still going to be a lot of uncertainty," she said. "I think a 10 per cent fall in house prices is where the consensus is sitting, in my view. The worst of the health pandemic may appear to finally be behind Australia but that hasn't stopped concerns that the biggest economic impact could lie ahead."

The factor that is causing most concern is that in September, an unprecedented amount of public and private sector stimulus measured in the hundreds of billions of dollars are due to come to an end. Regarding buyers, the withdrawing of government stimulus and the potential for a steep rise in unemployment may result in less buyers having the ability to purchase properties.

What many economists are saying that the next 12 months may hold:

- JobKeeper and JobSeeker support finishes;
- Mortgage deferment support ends;
- Significant rise in unemployment; and
- Therefore the number of properties for sale will increase and there will be less buyers looking to purchase property.

There are some economists that are not as concerned by these potential risks to the economy. They point out that significantly low interest rates will provide an important buffer to home affordability, and that the rise in unemployment is in sectors that will not materially impact buyer activity. However, even these economists acknowledge the downward pressure on prices over the short-term.

Selling now takes many of the above risks out of the equation and enables you to sell with maximum certainty. The alternative to avoiding the potential risks ahead is to postpone selling your property for the next few years if you are comfortable to do so. If you need to sell sometime over the next, say, 12 months, because of any financial concerns, or you need to upgrade, or downsize your property, the current market is active. The market is having its usual seasonal dip, meaning that there is less competition against your property. Finance for buyers is strong. And with several risks in the months ahead, it's unlikely prices will rise in that period of time, so it's hard to give a reason as to why you would wait.

WHY IS THERE BUYER CONFIDENCE AT THE MOMENT?

SUMMARY

- Interest rates are at all time lows.
- Confidence in buyers with job security remains.
- Current finance terms may drive buyer confidence into the future.

There are many reasons for the current buyer demand. The most significant of these reasons relate to finance.

With interest rates at all time lows and with banks being supportive of purchasers, we are seeing many buyers wanting to take advantage of these factors. Obtaining secure credit on excellent terms while they are available, is certainly influencing demand. This is not only the case with first home buyers, but across all sectors of the market. Fortunately, we continue to see confidence in buyers with job security working in industries not materially impacted by the current economic environment.

In any market environment, there remains a significant number of buyers who are looking at buying and selling within the same market. When you consider this, market conditions generally don't weigh in as much on the decision for those looking to upsize, downsize or relocate.

If there are future risks in the market, why should buyers enter the market?

For buyers, to try and 'game the system', and wait to pick the bottom, it's a difficult game to play. Things can move against you, and you risk being able to get that thing that you really want, especially if it's a family home. Longer term, there seems broad agreement that Australia's fundamentals post virus should remain strong. Property investment has, and will always be a long term investment.

If finance continues to be provided on the current terms, the purchasing power of buyers is expected to remain strong and be the main driver of buyer confidence.

WHY IS RAY WHITE THE MARKET LEADER?

SUMMARY

- Summary pt 1
- Summary pt 2
- Summary pt 3

We believe that we are the market leader because we have built market share during many periods of uncertainty. Maintaining faith in our ability to create competition for our sellers in all markets with relentless enthusiasm has been our uniqueness.

Our role is to be the “Competition Creators”. We understand that once your property has been sold your key question will be, “have we achieved the very best price possible in today’s market?” At Ray White, we do this by creating competition among potential buyers.

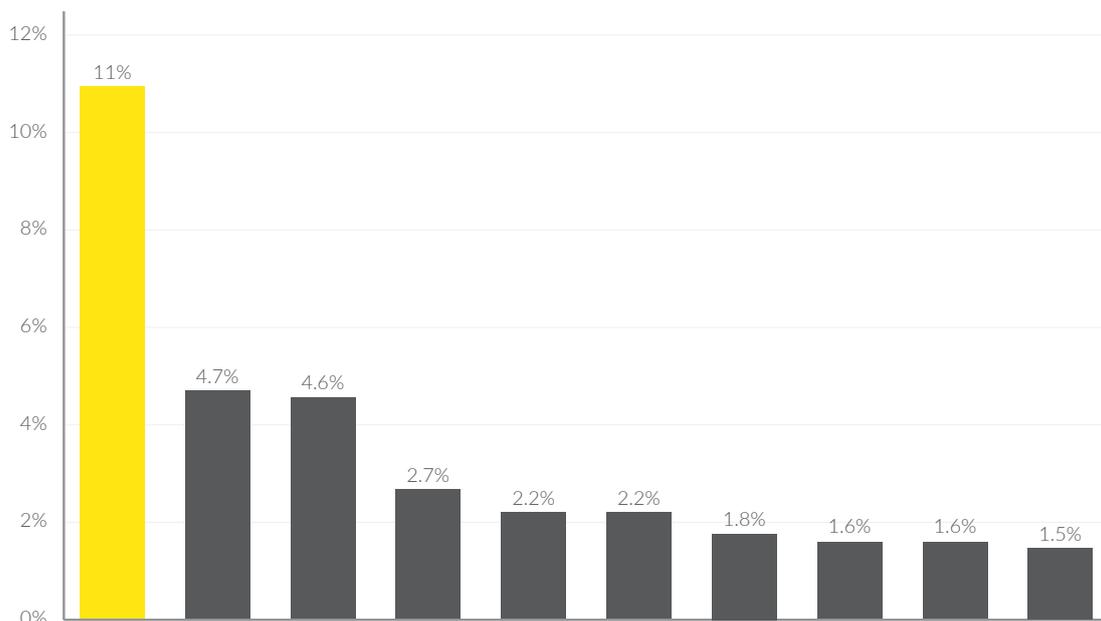

In today’s market, there is a lot of information readily available to buyers through online research. Buyers assess this information and develop a perceived market value estimate and thereby creating a “ceiling” price.

The only sure thing that can change a potential buyer’s mind and increase their offer price is the realisation there are others who desire the property and are prepared and willing to pay more.

Creating competition is the best way to achieve an exceptional result for your property. Through the interplay of competition, it’s our aim to achieve a figure which we are happy to present to our sellers - a figure that is a reflection of the buyers competing for the property.

This is what we call creating competition. That is how we profess to bring true value to our clients who are selling their property.

WITH SO MANY BUYERS IN THE MARKET, SHOULD I STILL INVEST IN A MARKETING CAMPAIGN?

SUMMARY

- Our ability to create competition has been our uniqueness.
- Creating competition is the best way to achieve exceptional results for your property.

It's true that we are seeing more buyers active in the marketplace. This is reflected in our online traffic, our online enquiries, our bidder registrations and the number of pre approvals we are seeing. The major portals like Realestate.com and Domain.com.au are also seeing a significant increase in their buyer traffic. So with all these buyers looking to purchase property, shouldn't it be easier to find these buyers and sell a property without having to invest in a substantial marketing campaign? While this may seem like a logical approach, almost all of our seller clients have an ambition to achieve not just any price but a premium price for their property when it sells. And so they should. Any real estate agent can sell a property for a price, however to ensure that the premium price is achieved for your property we must exhaust every avenue to find the buyer who will pay more than any other buyer in the marketplace. From experience, there is a considerable difference between what the premium buyer will pay and what the next best buyer will pay for any property. In some cases, the difference can amount up to hundreds of thousands of dollars. When considering this, the investment into a complete marketing campaign can have a huge return on investment with the eventual sale price of your property.

Short answer is yes.
Ray White is a marketing machine at its very essence. We don't build houses, we market them.

So how can you be confident that you have achieved the very best price for your property? The reality is for most property sales, we can't guarantee where the premium buyer will come from or where they will be searching for their property purchase. With this being the case, it's essential that you cover all bases to ensure you are putting your property in front of all potential buyers.

Short answer is yes. Ray White is a marketing machine at its very essence. We don't build houses, we market them. We know it works. We are essentially playing a contact sport and need to get in contact with as many buyers as we can quickly to secure you a sale at the best possible price. Creation competition is our end game. Our agents ability to create competition for your property is what will ultimately drive the premium price.

As listing numbers rise, so too does competition and marketing matters as it can elevate your property above others.

Each of our Sales and Marketing professionals will tailor a marketing campaign to suit your property. There are a wide variety of platforms available for you to ensure every buyer has a chance of seeing your property, they include:

- Sighboards - your 24 hour a day sales agent. Designed to capture the attention of locals who may be considering their next purchase or may know someone who is looking to buy into the area.
- Database marketing - an essential element to ensure that your agent can market your property to all buyers who have previously made contact with their agency.
- Online Property marketing - realestate.com.au and Domain dominate the online property space.
- Social Media - ask your agent to post across their personal and office accounts.
- Paid Social media - BeSeen is a targeted facebook marketing tactic that has been developed for Ray White which allows for a cost effective way of targeting buyers currently in the real estate cycle.
- Print media - Consistent weeks in your local paper is still a great way to get in front of your local community.
- DLs and letterbox drops once again are designed to capture your local buyer or a neighbour who may know someone who is looking to purchase in the area.
- Professional photography, floor plan and videos are a must in 2020. Genuine buyers will start their emotional connection to a property from their first impressions.
- Possibly use a PR strategy as you can't put a price on the power of this media coverage for your sale. So effective is this publicity in generating buyer interest. It's so credible.

SO HOW DO WE CREATE THE MOST COMPETITION FOR YOUR PROPERTY?

1. Marketing dominance

Finest auction business in Australia

Our market leading position comes from an unwavering commitment to auctions. Ray White listed 30 per cent of all auctions across the country in the last week. We had 438 auctions scheduled last week. This was the highest number of auctions held in 10 weeks, demonstrating an ongoing improvement in seller confidence as auction clearance rates hold reasonably firm under higher volumes. We put this down to our national team of auctioneers who quickly adapted to the new auction environment, using unique technology that's been created by our team of in-house experts.

Our current auction campaign clearance rate was 66.5 per cent nationally last Saturday.

Private Treaty

Our approach to private treaty is aligned with the auction method of creating competitive situations between buyers to create the best outcomes for our seller clients.

We have never lost faith in the value we can bring our sellers in a challenging market through effective marketing. If you choose to sell, we will be suggesting an investment in marketing, as we believe it enables us to maximise competition and clearly illustrate your intent to sell and therefore attract genuine buyers. We appreciate that some people would prefer to sell quietly, or off-market, and avoid an investment in marketing, but our experience tells us that this most often leads to little competition and therefore you're negotiating from a weak position.

2. Generating buyer enquiry

Being the biggest real estate group in the country has direct advantages for our sellers. Our ability to target the largest pool of buyers within a campaign is a strength which you can be confident will assist us in delivering the best possible result for you. In the current market conditions, it's critical to target the broadest possible audience and to be as efficient as possible in tailoring appropriate messaging to your potential buyers. After all, our focus is to seek out the buyer for your property that will pay more than everyone else.

We do this by having the greatest number of relationships with buyers in the market today. Combine our relationships with our use of technology, we can engage with buyers on a level that will ensure we can find the premium buyer for your property.

In addition to our ability to target broad audiences, Ray White Concierge, our communication specialists, unique to Ray White, can target one of the most influential audiences, our local communities. Our 118 years of real estate experience has enabled us to understand that a catalyst for creating competition is leveraging the local community and our data shows that in some cases, up to 60 per cent of property purchasers come from neighbours and their friends.

Concierge is able to communicate to property owners in surrounding streets, positioning your property to ensure that it is at the centre of our communities' attention. With our dedicated team of 100+ Ray White Concierge specialists, Concierge in coordination with our appointed agent, can deliver a layered community communication program including telephone calls, SMS and email, ensuring that the most influential people are alerted early to the sale of your property.

3. Unrivalled brand presence and media profile

As Australasia’s largest real estate group, supported by a dedicated and highly experienced team of news hounds in our PR team, we are able to generate maximum exposure for our customers.

Our media exposure dominates all other brands in terms of publicity - which is the sweet spot.

Our profile in newspaper advertising and editorials - along with having the largest number of listings on realestate.com.au and domain.com.au - is huge.

To put a price on the power of the media coverage we received $183 million worth of earned media mentions across print, online, radio and TV in the year to June 30, 2020.

We have a dedicated team of highly experienced in-house journalists who can get your property the exposure that money can't buy.

When a home is listed with Ray White, our clients are introduced to the national public relations service; a team that’s plugged into the Australian media and has the sole focus of achieving more exposure for the properties we sell, to the audience that matters most.

4. Deep data set

In times of uncertainty, property sellers need facts not media speculation, to be able to create informed decisions. Whether that be a decision to list your property on the market or to be in touch with real time market conditions. The reliance on data and proof points has never been more important for good decision making.

As the largest real estate group in Australasia, we have access to the largest pool of up to date information available and have the experience to help you analyse relevant data to help you make the right decision.

Ray White's innovative data portal, Ray White Pulse.

HOW HAS COVID-19 RESHAPED THE SELLING PROCESS?

Our processes put your safety first. We understand that you may have some concerns for your well being when considering listing your property in the current environment. We remain confident that our members have had the best support to ensure they can market and sell your property in the safest way possible.

It's important to note that some of our members have been so successful with the implementation of technology to support the selling process throughout COVID-19 that many are going to continue to use some of these processes beyond the current environment.

There have been a few changes to the way in which we can go about achieving the best results for our clients. Rest assured, we at Ray White have led the way with innovation in how we have adapted to these changes while insisting on safety for all of our clients. Whether it's an online auction, online appraisal or private inspection, technology is now a greater part of real estate processes than ever before. Ray White is fortunate to have the scale and ability to leverage technology and tools to attract buyers to listed properties through online and digital processes.

All of our members have been supported to ensure they are practicing physical distancing practices, no touch policies on all surfaces within a property as well as mandatory hand sanitising upon entry. Traditional 'open inspections' have been adjusted to protect you and your family and the health of all prospective buyers.

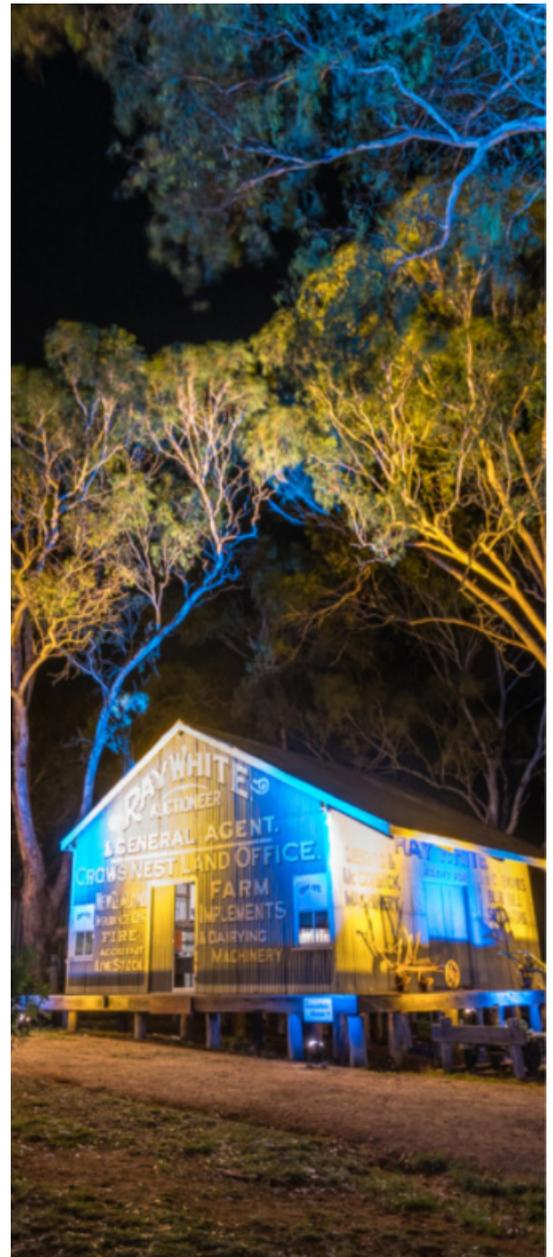

OUR FULL SAFETY POLICY FOR ARRANGING OR CONDUCTING INSPECTIONS AND AUCTIONS INCLUDES THE FOLLOWING:

- Check the occupants are not ill, self-isolating or under quarantine before arranging and attending.
- Arrange with the owner to prepare the property for contactless inspections. Have key drawers, pantries and wardrobes open and ready to view. Open as many doors and windows as possible to minimise the need for attendees to do the same. Attendees are to be encouraged not to touch.
- We will limit the numbers stipulated as per state requirements.
- We will schedule appropriate numbers and timings for open inspections to ensure limits are adhered to.
- Where required we will enforce the 4 sqm rule and collect details of contacts for tracing purposes.
- Arrange to have all surfaces of the home, including benchtops and door handles, wiped down with cleaning products.
- Have hand sanitiser available at the entry of the property.
- As a condition of entry, require attendees to indicate that they are not ill, self-isolating or under quarantine and have not returned from overseas in the last 14 days.
- Prohibit physical contact, including shaking hands. We will greet you with a wave, bow or another contactless greeting instead!
- Observe 'physical distancing' protocols of staying 1.5 metres away from others wherever possible.
- On completion, arrange to have any surfaces of the home that were touched wiped down with cleaning products.
